HIGH PLAINS WRITERS

January 2022

A Bi-Monthly Newsletter

From The President

Hello Writers!

I'm as surprised to see me in this seat as you are! My predecessors have passed on a legacy of vision and leadership. Together we can continue to pivot, without blowing out a knee, in this ever-changing landscape.

In 2020/202, we covered an enormous amount of craft and industry. Thankfully we don't have to remember it all or find which notebook, notepad, or sticky note we wrote that brilliant idea or piece of advice on. The replays are on the website! Just one of many perks of membership.

The biggest perk isn't our website or insightful, informative, and humorous newsletters or awesome snacks - but have you tried the fruit bars?? Seriously!

The most significant benefit of membership is... YOU! THPW members are THE asset. As we hone our craft, build platforms and pursue or continue on a publishing path, we must support and encourage each other. This mosaic of experiences, life histories, extended networks is where our strength truly lies.

How? Self-promo Saturdays through our Facebook Group: join, like, comment, share. Newsletter swaps. Twitter: follow, comment, like, share. Instagram.... you know the drill.

author accounts)

Do you have a working website, especially after Kenja's November program? (*another note to self) Amarillo College has a course on Creating WordPress Websites starting Jan 12, and Feb 9. I'm enrolled; join me.

How about a Newsletter? Check out Pinterest or Google.

Ready to pitch your novel? Need help with a logline, synopsis, query, or blurb? Check out the Perfect Pitch Room.

THPW succeeds when our members succeed. We need you. The world needs your books.

Happy Writing,
Kristine

January Special Guest

Tex Thompson!!

At last! After all those hundreds of hours spent slaving away at the keyboard, your first draft is finally done. Now you can sit back and bask in the glory of your beautiful, shining... unpublishable mess.

Never fear! This fast-and-furious revisionary rumble will fire you up to pummel your plot, pulverize your prose, and kill your darlings with bloodthirsty red-penthusiasm.
